ALICE DRUM WOMEN’S CENTER

LOOKING FOR NEW EXECUTIVE BOARD MEMBERS

In our ongoing commitment to cultivating campus activism and leadership, the Alice Drum Women’s Center is recruiting new executive board members for fall semester, 2016. The executive board position offers the chance to enact campus change and facilitate discussions that matter to you as students. The Alice Drum Women’s Center was founded in 1992 to promote dialogue and action around women’s issues and to create a campus space of equality and inclusion. More than 20 years later, the center continues towards broader goals of inclusion and advocacy along intersections of race, class, sexuality, gender, and disability.

Some specific things you can gain out of serving on the executive board for Spring 2016:

- Feminist community
- Leadership experience
- Event planning and execution
- The opportunity to create change around issues of importance to you

An executive board role will involve weekly committee work, organizing and planning events, attendance at all meetings and events, and voting power. It will give you access to leadership training and one-on-one time with high profile Center speakers.

Please note: Serving on the ADWC Executive board is a time commitment of 5-7 hours per week. Board meetings take place Fridays from 12-1pm. Additional office hours will be required for the fall semester as decided by the board.
