Remembrances of War

Hosted by
CARRIE LANDFRIED, Associate Professor of French
MARIA MITCHELL, Professor of History
LOUISE L. STEVENSON, Professor of History & American Studies

May 28 - June 8, 2022

We look forward to welcoming you on this unique trip to France to explore the role of the United States and Franklin & Marshall College students and alumni in the last century’s two world wars. We are especially excited to pay tribute to the contributions and sacrifices of F&M soldiers. As professors of United States history, European history, and French language and literature, we want to share with you our insights into these historic events and the interwar culture of American expatriates in Paris.

As friends and alumni of Franklin & Marshall College you will discover that the College has had an impact that extends around the globe, in this case to the battlefields of France. Last and certainly not least, there are fine French meals and wines to enjoy!

The cost is $4999 per person, based on double occupancy.
